

This is Caroline Gallagher's first year at St. Angela Merici School and is very excited to teach Kindergarten. Caroline Gallagher has spent the past four years teaching first grade in Arcadia, Florida. While teaching in Florida, Miss Gallagher took an active role in her school as the Team Leader for first grade, Social Chair for first grade, mentored new teachers, and participated in various other school and district committees. Miss Gallagher enjoys incorporating technology, cooperative learning and religion into the curriculum.

Miss Gallagher received her undergraduate degree in Early Childhood Education from Ashland University. While at Ashland, Miss Gallagher held office in Newman Catholic Campus Ministries as Historian and L.I.F.E. Coordinator. Miss Gallagher is currently attending graduate school to obtain her Masters of Reading through Kent State University.

Miss Gallagher enjoys spending time with her family and friends, especially her two adorable nieces. In Miss Gallagher's spare time, she enjoys scrap booking, card making, cleaning, and reading.
