Dear Friends,

A blessed Father's Day to all the dads and grandfathers and uncles and godfathers, et al. in our parish family and their own personal families! We also remember in a special way today all our dads who have passed on to their eternal reward. My own dad passed away in 1993 – I cannot believe that it has been 17 years! It seems like only yesterday, but I am happy through the miracles of DVDs, pictures, and other modern technology that I can still see him and hear his voice. He was a great and wonderful guy – very funny, too. If you didn't know him, you would have liked him a great deal. He would have been in church everyday to make sure that he could help me with all the details of pastoral work!

Many years ago, when we went to wakes and funeral parlors/homes, we didn't see many pictures. Now, beyond pictures, we have moving snapshots, etc. in marvelous displays to help us remember the good times with someone we loved so much. My older sister and I still make the rounds of the cemeteries to make sure that the grounds look good.

Actually, we had some great help with the Catholic Cemeteries Association some months ago. Our grandparents' gravestone had cracked and looked pretty bad. Voila – they had purchased perpetual care, and the stone was completely replaced at no cost! How's that for eternal service?

Life moves on to the summer months. We are welcoming new parishioners all the time from other merged parishes. We hope that they feel welcome. I know that our people are extending a welcome handshake and a smile to help those who are joining our parish family and community. No one likes to have to start new; a sympathetic ear and a warm handshake go very far indeed to help another to acclimate to new surroundings and "strange" settings that we're unaccustomed to experiencing.

Thanks to all who came to wish congrats to Father Greg on his 25th. I know that he enjoyed it very much. Thanks to all who were able to attend our 8th grade graduation and applaud the achievements and successes of our young people. We continue to pray for all our graduates in the parish from every school and every level of education. We are so lucky that our people have such great choices in schools. Every opportunity is available; there are no bad choices for our parishioners. Lucky, indeed! And blessed!

As it is Dad's day today, I hope that you might steer him to a nice website of the Knights of Columbus. It is called www.fathersforgood.org. It reminds us that parents, and dads in particular, must take seriously their role in fostering lifelong faith in their children. When considering what Catholic parents can and should do to foster a lively faith in the hearts of their children, one write often uses the analogy of growing tomatoes. If left to grow naturally, the tomato vine will simply grow along the ground and produce inferior, often diseased, tomatoes. If, however, the plant is fastened to a stake and forced to grow upright, it produces healthy fruit. True, there are still dangers that need to be counteracted, but they can do far less damage to the tomato vine that has been tied firmly to the stake.

As Sacred Scripture notes: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it" (Proverbs 22:6). Children as we all know need firm guidance and good example from their youngest years so they will grow "upright" in their knowledge of and love for God. A dad must make a diligent and purposeful effort to impart a basic knowledge of the Catholic faith and to teach his children how to really live out that faith. You don't need a theology degree to do this. Instead, you need a conscious awareness of God's will for you as a dad, abiding love for him, and at least a basic knowledge of our Catholic beliefs, coupled with a desire to learn more. This, along with a deep love for wife-spouse-mother of the children, will teach so much to a young person.

We must teach that Sunday Mass is essential. Then we must teach that our faith involves more than just one hour per week. A Catholic home is the "domestic church" as John Paul II said. This doesn't mean we have incense burning at the table, but it does mean that we have faith that informs the daily routines of our lives and decisions at home.

Some suggestions from the experts are simple: pray, read Scripture, have good discussions, go to confession, be understanding and forgiving. Beyond the externals of prayer and piety in the home, children have to see that mom and dad are imbued with the results of prayer – that they actually live out the gifts of faith, mercy, and forgiveness.

Fatherhood is a great joy and privilege, but like motherhood, it is also a great and awesome responsibility given to us by God the Father. What greater joy could one possibly have than to pass on the riches of the Catholic faith as a permanent, priceless inheritance to children? Such a gift lasts for a lifetime, for an eternity! A father's mission is a great one. Thanks to his mom, a child knows that love welcomes him into existence and surrounds him wherever he goes; but this embracing love is not enough for growth and maturity. That is why fathers and those who fulfill the father's role in a person's life are so critical. Mothers, as someone has said, provide the foundational awareness of God's surrounding love; the father opens up the way toward transcendence, toward God's mystery. That is quite a statement to ponder for any one of us. We see in some parts of society that when a father or a father figure is absent, there is left a void in a child's life. Mom cannot do it all by herself, and vice versa. Together they launch life and then help a young one to face a future full of challenges. St. Joseph gives us a perfect image of a father. Matthew's Gospel helps us to see Joseph as the protector and the one who helps Mary to bring Jesus into the world and assist him in His mission in the world.

For priests it can be similar. We have a spiritual fatherhood. When we live it out well, we can do much to be living signs of care. In our ministry, we can remind each man of the original source from which all life comes and toward which we journey. So let's all pray for dads and those who fulfill the dad's mission in life. The role is too critical to forget. And God bless all you dads, godfathers, gramps, and close role models who do so much.

We have been in discussion as a parish staff in the last days re next year, e.g., adult formation sessions, cluster experiences with St. Chris, etc. We will also be passing out a short survey for your perusal to help us in our planning, and I would like you to take it and respond as quickly as you can when you receive it. I want to know, for example, if our Mass schedule is suited to the majority of our people. The schedule had just changed before my arrival seven years ago. Sometimes I feel that it might be a tad early for some families, especially trying to get everyone together on a busy Sunday morning. Would a schedule like 7:30, 9:30, and 11:30 on Sunday morning work better? That extra half hour might just spell the difference. Then all our Masses at St. Angela would begin on the half hour – an easy mnemonic device – or memory clue – to help people remember when Masses are at a particular church. I can hear people begin to say, "Well, at Angela's the Masses are always on the half hour – even during the week at 6:30 AM and 8:30 AM." We'll have to look at holy days of obligation, of course. Another good reason for changing times ever so slightly concerns the parishes in our area and their Mass times. Most of our people know when Masses are celebrated at different churches. "If I cannot make this Mass I can always go to such-and-such a church." This would also fall in line with the bishop's wish that we have different Masses at different times in geographical areas to help the greatest number of people attend the Eucharist and pray each week. I'm looking forward to your opinion but wanted to alert you ahead of time to get your thought processes geared up!

The Year For Priests has just ended, but I'm afraid that the issue of sexual abuse won't be over for a long time. I have the feeling that we might want to have some open discussions regarding this difficult and challenging topic in the coming year – perhaps a cluster experience – to help all of us to deal with what has been a great tragedy in our Church's experience. We've talked about this in our cluster meetings and will have some further discussion, perhaps through the Parish Pastoral Council. I think that some people truly need this on their spiritual journey. What form this would take we're not sure, but I wanted to let you know that we are thinking and praying about this as an aid to all of us to deal with something so important and to move forward more wisely than before. I'll keep you posted.

In the meantime, we pray with the Holy Spirit that our sorrow and our tears, and our sincere effort to redress past wrongs, along with our firm purpose of amendment, may bear an abundant harvest of God's grace for the deepening of faith in our families, parishes, schools, and communities. For many people, some hurts take a great deal of time with which to deal; closure is never immediate. One priest has said that this issue of sexual abuse by clergy has been the "perfect storm" in the Church of our day. Notably, the Church is not the only part of society that is affected; sexual abuse by parents, teachers, ministers, officers of the law, and others in society is there, too. But the Church experience is so close to the heart and so devastating. If we need more time to deal with this, we should do it for all our sakes. Let's again continue to pray for insight and courage.

Meanwhile, on a brighter note, I hope that you will take advantage of a unique opportunity right here in the Cleveland area to visit a special event that has received rave and glowing reviews by those who have attended. This is the exhibit entitled, "Women & Spirit: Catholic Sisters in America." Very few places in the United States will have the chance to offer this once-in-a-lifetime experience. It is being held in Cleveland from May 9, 2010 through August 28, 2010 at the Maltz Museum of Jewish Heritage at 2929 Richmond Road between Shaker Boulevard and South Woodland. Watch for traffic patterns and some construction around there. Use your Garmin or something to help your global positioning! My sister took some young women from Saint Joseph Academy, and they enjoyed it thoroughly – got a great deal out of it.

If parents want to share a unique and special part of Catholic heritage with their children,

I would highly recommend this exhibit. Again, it's a once-in-a-lifetime event. One picture is worth a thousand words. From the time the Ursulines (founded by Saint Angela Merici) arrived in New Orleans in A.D. 1727 up to today, women religious have made an incalculable contribution to this nation. Running schools, hospitals, and orphanages from America's earliest days, these women helped foster a culture of social service that has permeated our society. Over the centuries these courageous women overcame many obstacles – both physical and cultural – to bring their civilizing and caring and faithful influence to every corner of the country. As Cokie Roberts, the honored Catholic journalist, news analyst and author has said, “Understanding and celebrating the history of women religious is essential to understanding and celebrating the history of America.”

The witness of sisters and nuns – there is a difference – has been extraordinary. Innovative in healthcare, leaders in education, pioneers in social justice – all this is the legacy of our Catholic heritage which is still continuing to this day. Our own parish family has a history of successful young women becoming nuns and sisters. I don't see why that might not continue today and in the future. A young woman in our parish could do very well indeed in life by embracing such a vocation and in making such a tremendous contribution to the world for Christ. Are there fewer nuns and sisters? Of course. That is the sign of the times. But, although they are fewer in number, American Catholic sisters and nuns continue to address issues of global concern, including climate change, poverty, and human rights, along with essential issues of faith and Church life. They are exemplars of service that emanates from faith. If you want a glimpse of the exhibit, go to www.womenandspirit.org for a quick view. I am sure it will entice you and inveigle you to see something great! It may just reveal to you the mystery behind a small group of women who have shaped so many in the nation and the nation itself. You will meet women who corresponded with Thomas Jefferson, talked down bandits, lugged pianos into the wilderness (just imagine), provided the first health insurance to Midwest loggers, experienced the horrors of the Civil War, the Gold Rush, the San Francisco earthquake, and on and on and on.

Speaking of social justice, don't forget to look at the bishops' Web site promoting Catholic social teaching, life, and dignity. It can be found at www.usccb.org/campus. This is for college students and others to promote our Catholic faith.

Site elements include principles of Catholic social teaching, prayer materials, small group resources, tools for action, and multimedia such as videos and podcasts. Very innovative! It really will become an online clearinghouse featuring “best practices” to promote Catholic social ideas and realities.

Have a great week. As our bridal month ebbs away, here are a few fun facts about wedding “stuff” that you might enjoy:

- The wedding ring is a circle because it is continuous and symbolic of undying love and devotion. The third finger of the left hand was chosen long ago for the ring when it was believed that it is connected directly to the heart by the “vena amoris” – the vein of love! How about that?
- Throwing the bride's garter or flowers to unmarried guests point out the next to be married. But you knew that already.
- The wedding cake is the symbol of the “breaking of bread in kinship.”
- Toasting comes from an ancient French custom of placing bread in the bottom of a glass – a good toaster drained the drink to get the “toast”. According to legend, when a bride and groom drink their wedding toast, whoever finishes first will rule the family. I think I'll leave that one alone.
- Going to offer a prayer at Mary's shrine in church (to the tune of “Ave Maria”) is not a custom in many parts of the country. When I lived in NYC, I'd ask the bride about it, and most said, “What? Never heard of that before!” Interesting.

I would like you to get in contact with Youtube.com to view a couple of priests if you get the time – nice guys with good messages. Fr. Robert Barron and Father Leo Patalinghug. Enjoy.

Remember: Life is not measured by the number of breaths we take but by the moments that take our breath away. How true that is in the life of faith! Have a great week. Enjoy the last ten days of June. Our fiscal year in the diocese ends on June 30th, so we'll be busy wrapping things up on a good year. Requests for financial aid for the school are really mounting this year. Please help if you can. Remember that even if you never had anyone in our school, a strong St. Angela school affects everyone in Fairview Park and the surrounding area in a most positive way – think of your taxes and property values alone! God bless. As always, Oremus pro invicem. Soli Deo Gloria.

Father Michael J. Lanning, Pastor

Heart-felt Thanks to You!

Last weekend was one of the most wonderful weekends of my 25 years of being a priest in our Diocese; the celebration of my 25th Anniversary of Ordination. I want to thank Fr. Lanning, our entire Parish Staff and you, the good people of St. Angela Merici Church, for making last Sunday so extra special! I cannot tell you how much I appreciated your words of thanks and encouragement for another 25 years of being a priest! Your cards, letters and gifts mean so much and are much appreciated! The thank you notes will soon be in the mail! My friends from other parishes could not stop talking about how wonderful everything was in Church, including our choir and how nice the reception was in the Rini Center! You make it so easy serving you each day and each week; as I try to do my best each time! May God's Peace be always with you!

Fr. Greg Schaut

FAMILY PERSPECTIVES Suffering is part of daily life for all families. Serious illness, grieving the death of loved ones, divorce, job losses, addictions, domestic violence, strained relationships and the demands of work, school and family responsibilities can be overwhelming. Christian families who deny their problems refuse the cross. When they face their problems and pull together to pray, encourage, mourn and struggle, they find Christ is with them giving hope, strength and guidance. They find new life. Fathers have a unique role and responsibility to lead and teach their children the meaning of the cross, how to handle problems, and to suffer for truth and justice.

BLESSED IS THE FRUIT OF THY WOMB As we follow the probable development of Jesus from His conception to His birth, He would have been living 3 months in His mother's womb. Jesus' would have measured between 3 and 4 inches long, with his joints and muscles allowing full body movement. His digestive system and kidneys would have been functioning, as He continued to swallow Mary's amniotic fluid and even "breathe" it through His lungs. Let us pray that God would fill the hearts of new fathers with ever deepening love for their wives and children, born and unborn.

50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION The Department for Marriage and Family Ministry and the Office for Worship are pleased to announce the 50th Wedding Anniversary Celebration. The Mass will be held on Sunday, July 25 at 2:30PM at the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist with Most Reverend Richard Lennon as the celebrant. Please contact the St. Angela Merici Parish Secretary at 440-333-2133 for registration information.

"HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT OF COMING INTO THE CHURCH?"

That is a question that has been asked since the time of the early Church. Many people come to Church who are not baptized or may not have been baptized in another denomination. There are some who were baptized in the Catholic faith and never completed receiving all the sacraments. If that sounds like someone you know or it could be yourself, please call Fr. Greg Schaut at 440-333-2133 for more information about the RCIA process. He would love to talk with you about being a member of this upcoming session to become members in our Church community.

FATHER'S DAY PRAYER

God our Father, you govern and protect your people and shepherd them with a father's love.

You place a father in a family as a sign of your love, care, and constant protection.

May fathers everywhere be faithful to the example shown in the Scriptures: steadfast in love, forgiving transgressions, sustaining the family, caring for those in need.

Give your wisdom to fathers that they may encourage and guide their children. Keep them healthy so they may support a family.

Guide every father with the Spirit of your love that they may grow in holiness and draw their family ever closer to you. Amen.

Think of how your life honors your father. Also acknowledge those men who have been like a father to you.

Honor them this week. For daily marriage tips visit:

CHURCH INTERIOR PAINTING Please be aware that there will be scaffolding erected in various areas of the Church from June 1-9, June 15-17, and June 21-July 8. This will not impede going to communion or celebrating Mass; however, please be careful. Don't worry brides! Scaffolding will not be up during any of our summer weddings.

VIGIL CANDLES Because of the scaffolding there may be interruptions with vigil candle lighting. We are keeping track and the candles will be relit as they are available.
